Stock Exchange

Stocks Churn

Irregularly; Rails Higher

New York, Oct. 24 (AP).—The stock market regained some of its courage today and many of Monday's casualties shifted to the plus column.

Steadier tendencies appeared at the opening and, while numerous pivots failed to join the comeback, advances of fractions to a point or so were plentiful at the close. Rails led a midday flurry, but emerged under the best. Dealings, livelier than in recent sessions, were below those which accompanied the stumble of the week's starting session.

Customers reinstated soldout accounts here and there on the thought the list had been over-liquidated. Earnings and dividends were helpful. The refusal lately of the averages to top the seven-year highs of July, however, combined with the indefinite political picture and thoughts of a possible quick European victory, accompanied by reconversion troubles, served as trend restraints.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was unchanged at 54.9. Transfers totaled 853,820 shares compared with 1,024,090 the day before which were the largest since September 7.
